Message from Pastor Johnson

Christianity Begins And Ends With Jesus

When we built our house in northern Minnesota, we had to drill a well. It was actually a pretty simple procedure, and the digger said we would have no problem with the quantity of water. I was excited, until he said, "Don't get too excited. We won't know the quality of the water until the tests come back." Then it struck me, the quantity of water doesn't matter at all, if the quality is contaminated or distasteful. We could run our faucets from sun-up to sundown, and still suffer great illness or thirst.

Col. 2:8 See to it that no one takes you captive through philosophy and empty deception, according to the tradition of men, according to the elementary principles of the world, rather than according to Christ.

Over the centuries, many have offered the contaminated waters of human philosophies, false religions, and deceptive traditions by the barrel-full. And many have drunk deeply, to their own demise. Still others have passed over the fresh waters of Christianity, because of its apparent simplicity. They call it naïve and a crutch for the weak-minded. And from one perspective it is the easiest of all religions, because the work has all been done by Jesus Christ Himself on Calvary. He alone paid the full price for our sins, suffering for our punishment. He offers us forgiveness, free of charge. And because Jesus did it all, His grace runs fresh and uncontaminated, with no human additives.

When that report for our water came back, we were delighted. We could drink deeply and without concern for our health. The waters from our well were pure and sweet, as is a relationship with Jesus Christ. But to be connected to Christ also requires that we admit Jesus did it all, and that it is Jesus' power that gives us the ability to live our lives, pleasing to Him. In the end, Christianity begins with Jesus and ends with Jesus.
